

Reality #21: 1st Mexican Mitohack of 2018

2018 Mexico members teaching point made over and over again at the beach between myself and an industry insider: Make friends who have tattoo's when you city goes 5G because they will be the best indicator of when you will need to migrate because of the electric fields that will generate at their skin. However, I would not go with them to fill the car up with gas at any gas station given how much charge their skin will hold and carry and how this energy will have the ability to jump conduct to their metal car. Static electric energy will be a massive 5 G problem beginning this year. Ask anyone who has been in a smart meter fire or anyone in the Southern California fires. Both of these scenario's are linked to this hack as I described to my members on the beach in Mexico this week.
