

What will I prove beyond a shadow of a doubt in Vermont 2018?

I have decided to do something I have never done before a talk.

I will give the punch line of the talk in the first ten minutes and tell you what the end point is.....and then I will show you piece by piece how they fit and how they fall apart.

I plan on beginning my talk with the video above and ending it with the video at the end of this blog. The words of the videos should be your focus and not the song, albeit the songs are awesome.

If you are going to Vermont, you might want to read this before you see my talk live.
