

Why is the Sun Electric and not Nuclear? Why do Mitochondria Care?

This post might be one of the most foundational experiments of why I believe that life is photoelectric and that we live within an electric universe. The “accepted solar model of the sun is based upon nuclear fusion and supported fundamentally by Kirchhoff’s laws.

If you are new mitochondriac and do not know what Kirchhoff law is and why it is critical in understanding the relationship of the sun to our mitochondria watch all the videos in this post. Also watch the video from my Vermont 2017 talk on the eye.
